lovetoknow
advice women can trust
Logo will not print with document

High School at Home

High school graduation celebrates the teens who have worked hard to prepare for adulthood and the teachers who've helped them along the way. But you guys are like my second high school. Each of you mirrors the job of someone at my school and I want to acknowledge your hard work too.

We all know [Insert name] is the Principal of this family. You keep me organized on a daily basis and plan what's best for me in the future.

That means [Insert name] is the Vice Principal. You provide all the support I need and jump into any role that's lacking.

[Insert name] is obviously the family math teacher. But, we all know math goes beyond numbers. You are the one who keeps me thinking logically and looking at the big picture.

[Insert name] is the only one who could fit the bill of an english teacher. Not only do you encourage me to always keep reading, but you have challenged me to write down my feelings and share my voice with others.

Science classes are all about discovery and [Insert name] fits that role to a T. You have helped me discover who I am and who I want to be.

[Insert name], well you'd be the gym teacher. You are all about fun and you've never let me forget that I am supposed to be living life in the most active way possible.

Since there is no formal ceremony for recognizing the importance of family in a graduate's journey, I made my own here today. Thank you for teaching, supporting, and pushing me in every subject of life.