A Tailored Retirement Speech

For many of us, today is a very sad day because we are saying goodbye to one of this company's most beloved and respected employees. Daniel wasn't just a hard worker, caring friend and reliable co-worker. He has been the one to put smiles on our faces and to make us laugh on even the rainiest of days.

Many of us can't recall a day where Daniel didn't say something hilarious in a staff meeting or out at the bar for a round of drinks after a hard work week. Our days will not be nearly as hilarious or bright after he turns in his keys for a final time.

Daniel has sure had some epic moments here throughout his years. He has received countless awards for his dedication to his craft. (LIST THOSE ACHIEVEMENTS HERE). He has also given the company some of their very best fails and giggles. Remember that time at the Christmas Party where he showed up wearing the best ugly sweater this place will ever know? Or the time at the company picnic where he and Stan nearly took out half of the department during a sack race? You can never accuse Daniel of not having a winning spirit. That sack race is proof of that.

Daniel has been the heartbeat of our group for years, and he will be missed beyond measure. Daniel, please continue to grace us with your presence at every future function and event we hold. It is bad enough that we have to work without you now, but we refuse to party without you too.
